The Process

What you do:

- ① If your organization falls within the guidelines of eligibility outlined above, contact GCF to further discuss eligibility.
- ② After discussion with GCF and the project is considered to be potentially fundable, complete the on-line application form and submit with accompanying attachments (including list of Board to Directors, current operating budget, most recent audited/unaudited financial statement).
- ③ Participate in interviews as needed throughout the review process.

What we do:

- ① Once the GCF Executive Director has confirmed that your organization and your request meet the criteria outlined above, projects are reviewed by the Musagetes Fund advisors who provide recommendations to the Foundation's Grants Committee and Board of Directors.
- ② As part of its review process, the Foundation may solicit the advice of other knowledgeable individuals or organizations.
- ③ The results of any interview, along with your original application materials and any other relevant third-party advice available to us, will be presented for deliberation, following which granting recommendations will be forwarded to the Board of Directors for its review and ultimate determination.

Accountability:

As a matter of accountability, both to GCF donors and to its Board of Directors, the Foundation will undertake an appropriate review with all receiving agencies to ensure compliance with the terms under which grants were allocated and to evaluate the impact of the grant on the realization of the project objectives.

In addition, to help us evaluate our own success in achieving the mission of GCF, we are interested to know how GCF's support has assisted you in the pursuit of your objectives. To that end, we ask every recipient of a GCF grant to provide a final report at the completion of its project. We are particularly interested in knowing:

- Whether you achieved the goals for your project as you envisioned them in your original application and the means by which you have assessed the success of your project;
- Specific examples of the results of your project;
- The impact of your project on the improvement of life in the Guelph area;
- The formation of new partnerships for your organization.
